Evaluating Social Development Projects Development Guidelines:

Evaluating social development projects David Marsden,1990 Evaluating Social Development Projects David Marsden,Peter Oakley,1990 The goals of many social development programmes include the promotion of participation the awakening of political consciousness the encouragement of self reliant strategies How are these achievements to be measured Are evaluations of such projects essentially different from those of more conventional infrastructural projects This book offers some guidelines to NGO planners Measuring the Process ,1994 Evaluation and Social Work Practice Ian Shaw,Joyce Lishman,1999-05-19 Evaluation and Social Work Practice offers a comprehensive treatment of the central issues confronting evaluation in social work that links theory and method to practical applications Evaluation is an integral part of social work and social care provision for both practice and service delivery Evaluation can improve effectiveness and increase accountability and help develop new models of practice and service delivery The authors argue that evaluation should not just be applied to practice but should be a direct dimension of practice Appealing to the student researcher and practitioner Evaluation and Social Work Practice will become the standard reference source on evaluation in social work XX

Toolkits Louisa Gosling, Mike Edwards,2003 Toolkits is divided into three sections underlying principles practical questions and tools This new edition brings these up to date and discusses the implications of adopting a human rights approach to development and the increased emphasis on partnership There are new chapters on impact assessment and monitoring and evaluating advocacy as well as two new tools one for improving your planning evaluation and impact assessment and one for stakeholder analysis Learning from Change International Development Research Centre (Canada),2000 Learning from Change provides an overview of the common themes and experiences in participatory approaches to monitoring and evaluation across different institutions and sectors It is a compilation of selected case studies and discussions between practitioners academics donors and policymakers in participatory monitoring and evaluation PM E It explores conceptual methodological institutional and policy issues that need to be addressed to enrich our understanding and practice of PM E The book is in three sections The first provides a general overview of PM E synthesizing literature surveys and regional reviews of PM E practice around the world The second presents case studies that illustrate the diverse range of settings and contexts in which PM E is being applied The third raises the key issues and challenges arising from the case studies and discussions and proposes areas for future research and action Learning from Change will be an important reference for development professionals worldwide as well as for anyone interested in the process of participatory development including researchers academics fieldworkers development practitioners and policymakers Disability and Development in Burkina Faso Lara Bezzina,2019-11-04 This book builds upon critiques of development in the disability domain by investigating the necessity and implications of theorising disability from the Global South and how development policies and practices pertaining to disabled people in such contexts might be improved by engaging with their voices and agency The author focuses on the lived experiences of disabled people in Burkina Faso while situating these experiences where necessary in the wider national and regional contexts She explores development agencies interventions with disabled people and the need to re think these practices and ideologies which are often framed within western contexts This work will appeal to policy makers NGOs academics students and researchers in the fields of development and disability studies

Non-Governmental Organisations - Performance and Accountability Michael Edwards,David Hulme,2014-03-18
The last decade has seen some significant changes in international development and in the status of non governmental organisations operating in the field Not only has the number of NGOs virtually doubled many of them have seen a considerable growth in their budgets and have grown closer to governments and official aid agencies NGOs are acknowledged by many to be more effective agents of development than governments or commercial interests even as a magic bullet for development problems Despite these positive trends the real impact of the NGO sector is not well documented This is partly because NGO performance assessment and accountability methods are weak and partly because NGOs are caught up increasingly in the world of official aid which pushes them towards certain forms of evaluation at the expense of others This unique book takes a hard and critical look at these issues and describes how NGOs can and must improve the way they measure and account for their performance if they are to be truly effective Protecting and Promoting Good Nutrition in Crisis and Recovery Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2005-01-01 Every year natural disasters armed conflicts and other forms of crisis adversely affect the lives of millions of people in the developing world In many countries families are forced to abandon their homes farms and villages access to adequate food becomes difficult and hardship contributes to high rates of malnutrition This book offers guidance to program planners and technicians in the fields of nutrition food security agriculture and community development in adopting a longer term perspective to addressing problems of household food insecurity and malnutrition during periods of crisis and recovery It provides a framework for an implementation strategy that focuses on both saving lives in the short term and strengthening livelihood to ensure that households are less vulnerable to food and nutrition insecurity in the future FAO Economic and Social Development Paper ,1987 Methods in Development Research Jeremy Holland,John Campbell,2005 Over the past decade there has been an increasingly receptive audience for participatory and qualitative research methods by policy makers development practitioners and academics working in applied research At the same time there is an increasing awareness that the value of research can be enhanced through a more systematic combination of quantitative and qualitative methods While this recent interest has begun to provide useful pointers as to how development research might be improved it has also given rise to certain problems This book will draw together lessons about emerging best practice with regard to combining qualitative and quantitative methods and approaches to generate numbers from qualitative participatory methods and to monitor and evaluate development processes It will build and expand upon innovation and reflection from practice in developing and developed societies from within development agencies and academia government departments and civil society organizations By drawing on current research in many sectors and countries the book will situate current development research issues squarely within debates about development policy and social research and it will help begin the process of defining best practice in the use of participatory qualitative and quantitative methods and issues of methodological triangulation which are of considerable interest to academics practitioners and policy makers A genuine how to manual which combines best practice and new innovations and presents fascinating material for academics practitioners and policy makers
