South Southern Writers Bear Witness Jan Nordby Gretlund, 2018-07-15 Fourteen Southern storytellers reveal their influences, methods, and daily routines and struggles with the writing process. Jan Nordby Gretlund has been studying the literature of the American South for some fifty years, and his outsider's perspective as a European scholar has made him an intellectually acute witness of both the literature and its creators. Whether it is their language and reflexive storytelling or the craft and techniques by which writers transform life and experience into art that fascinates Gretlund, elements of their fiction led to his interviews with the fourteen storytellers featured in Southern Writers Bear Witness. Gretlund believes a good interview will always reveal something about a writer's life and character details that can inform a reading of that writer's fiction. The interviewer's task, according to Gretlund, is to supply the reader with some of the sources and experiences that inspired and shaped the fiction. Through his conversations, Gretlund also occasionally elicits the subjects' reflections on other writers and their work to discover affiliations, lines of influence, and divergences, and he also emphasizes the enduring power of their work. His interviews with Eudora Welty and Pam Durban uncover strong family and community experiences found at the core of their fiction. Gretlund also turns conversations to the craft of writing, writers' daily routines, and specific problems encountered in their work, such as Clyde Edgerton's struggle with point of view. In other exchanges, he investigates distinctive elements of a writer's work, such as violence in Barry Hannah's fiction and religious faith in Walker Percy's. Still other conversations, such as his with Josephine Humphreys, touch on the pressures and opportunities of publishing and its influence on the writer's work. Taken together, these authors' insights on life in the South provide a fascinating window into the creative process of storytelling, as well as the human experiences that fuel it. A foreword by Daniel Cross Turner, author of Southern Crossings, Poetry Memory, and the Transcultural South, and co-editor of Undead Souths: The Gothic and Beyond in Southern Literature and Culture, and Hard Lines: Rough South Poetry, is also included. Featured authors: Pat Conroy, Pam Durban, Clyde Edgerton, Percival Everett, Kaye Gibbons, Barry Hannah, Mary Hood, Josephine Humphreys, Madison Jones, Martin Luther King Sr., Walker Percy, Ron Rash, Dori Sanders, Eudora Welty. Speak So I Shall Know Thee William J. Walsh, 2012-02-29. A. R. Ammons was asked if he agreed that the United States has not produced a major poet in the last 30 years. I agree. The poetry in the country has become sort of a company affair where support for the arts has just about ruined the arts, and the system of bureaucrats managing the funds being developed here and there is turning into trade unionism, which may be the best way to write poetry, but it is unfamiliar to me. This comprehensive collection contains 31 interviews in which Southern writers talk about their craft, the Southern literary scene, and themselves. Poets, short story writers, and novelists include firmly established writers side by side with emerging talent: Lee Smith, James Dickey, Harry Crews, Pat Conroy, Doris Bett Pulitzer Prize winner Donald Justice, and 25 others. North Carolina Literary Review, 2003. English Journal, 1999. American Novelists Since World War II.
