Energy Conversion for Space Power Nathan Snyder, 2012-12-02 Progress in Astronautics and Rocketry Volume 3
Energy Conversion for Space Power focuses on the use of dependable electric power sources on space vehicles. Composed of various literature, the book first discusses the physics of thermoelectricity, thermoelectric generator materials, the use of semiconductors in thermoelectric conversion, and the use of high temperature thermoelectric materials for power generation. The text also presents experiments on the effect of irradiation on thermoelectric materials, thermoelectric elements in space power systems, and thermionics. The book then describes the photovoltaic effect and conversion of solar energy, trends in silicon solar cell technology, the use of silicon solar cells in energy conversion, and how radiation affects solar cell power systems. The text notes the specifications of batteries if used in communications satellites, the use of positive displacement engines and turbines on cryogenic power systems, and the characteristics of magnetohydrodynamic (MHD) generators in space power conversion. The book is a good source of information for readers and scientists wanting to explore the potential of energy conversion in space power technology. Energy conversion for space power, ed ARS Space Power Systems Conference, Santa Monica, Calif., 1960, Nathan W. Thermophotovoltaic Energy Conversion in Space Nuclear Reactor Power Systems, 2004 Thermophotovoltaic energy conversion offers a means of efficiently converting heat into electrical power. This has potential benefits for space nuclear reactor power systems currently in development. The primary obstacle to space operation of thermophotovoltaic devices appears to be the low heat rejection temperatures which necessitate large radiator areas. A study of the tradespace between efficiency and radiator size indicates that feasible multi junction TPV efficiencies result in substantial overall system mass reduction with manageable radiator area The appendices introduce the endothermodynamic model of a TPV cell and briefly assess the utility of advanced carbon carbon heat pipe radiator concepts "Energy for the Marketplace" ,1983
