Effect Of Processing On The Nutritional:

Nutritional and Toxicological Consequences of Food Processing Mendel Friedman, 2013-11-21 A variety of processing methods are used to make foods edible to permit storage to alter texture and flavor to sterilize and pasteurize food and to destroy microorganisms and other toxins These methods include baking broiling cooking freezing frying and roasting Many such efforts have both beneficial and harmful effects It is a paradox of nature that the processing of foods can improve nutrition quality safety and taste and yet occasionally lead to the formation of anti nutritional and toxic compounds These multifaceted consequences of food processing arise from molecular interactions among nutrients with each other and with other food ingredients Since beneficial and adverse effects of food processing are of increasing importance to food science nutrition and human health and since many of the compounds formed have been shown to be potent carcinogens and growth inhibitors in animals I organized a symposium broadly concerned with the nutritional and toxicological consequences of food processing The symposium was sponsored by the American Institute of Nutrition AIN Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology FASEB for its annual meeting in Washington D C April 1 5 1990 Invited speakers were asked to develop at least one of the following topics 1 Nutrient nonnutrient interactions between amino acids proteins carbohydrates lipids minerals vitamins tannins fiber natural toxicants etc 2 Effects of radiation 3 Thermally induced formation of dietary mutagens antimutagens carcinogens anticarcinogens antioxidants and growth inhibitors 4 Effects of pH on nutritional value and safety

Nutritional Evaluation of Food Processing Endel Karmas, Robert S. Harris, 2012-12-06 Dramatic changes in the attitudes toward human nutrition have taken place during the past decade Food related and medical professionals as well as consumers are now more than ever before aware of and concerned about diet nutrition and the beneficial and deleterious effects of food processing upon nutrients The old saying We are what we eat is still relevant Nutritious food will contribute greatly to consumers good health and ultimately reduce medical bills Food processing is essential to maintaining our food reserves from one harvest to another thus letting us serve our daily meals regularly If food processing is defined as including all treatments of foodstuffs from harvest to consumption then more than 95% of our food may be considered as processed In most cases food processing and storage cause some reduction in the nutritional value of foods Advances in food science and food technology have resulted in an increase in nutrient retention after processing In addition today's consumer better understands how to avoid excessive nutrient losses during food preparation The information presented in this completely revised reference and textbook will help the reader to understand better the relationship between food processing and nutrient retention The authors' scholarly contributions are greatly appreciated
