Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and inventing thinking. After "brain" work with a local issue, such as water quality or waste management, using critical thinking to assess or improve solutions can have a positive impact. Understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, is the first step in finding an effective resolution.

Designing solutions becomes considering various conditions, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Community members have part of a solution right from the beginning, and this input is what gives the solution credibility. For students, creating solutions for a issue that they affect in real and safe of use, can influence the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, documenting how it works, what conditions affected it, and any compromises that have already been and should involve on the idea. Communication, using simple words, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. This process can help students develop healthy attitudes, responsible decision-making, and team communication skills.

6A. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when working on a local problem?
- Thinking of a solution immediately
 - Using the most expensive materials
 - Ignoring safety concerns
 - Understanding the problem fully
2. What does documenting contribute to a solution help with?
- Ignoring the conditions of the solution
 - Establishing a solution that is safe and viable
 - Showing how to avoid safety concerns
 - Documenting that the solution has no risks
3. Which is an example of a consensus?
- Choosing a solution with no input
 - Unanimous input to finish the project
 - No input or resources
 - Using majority feedback
4. Why is it important to document a solution?
- To avoid not being in a solution
 - To make ideas clearer
 - To finish the problem by continuing
 - To avoid documenting a solution

6B. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

1. A solution made after one failed attempt is usually better than one made after several failed attempts.

Answer for each question.

1. How does inventing a solution help in the scientific process?

2. Why must this be considered in designing a solution?

3. What might happen when creating a solution that

4. How might science solutions be implemented?
