Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,2000 2002 Year Book, Australia , What Makes a Good Healthcare System? Alan Gillies,2003 This book is designed to meet two conflicting goals to be readable and interesting enough to be read by anyone interested in health and healthcare system in UK and to be rigorous and evidence based sufficient to be taken seriously by the author s academic peers Health 1999-2000 Richard Yarian,1999-02 Health is such a complex subject that it is difficult to stay abreast of the latest research finds This volume presents a sampling of articles that represent late 1990s thinking on a variety of health issues and services as a tool for developing critical thinking skills Fair Play and Foul? Board of Trustees of the Orland Fire Protection District*, 2010 Seeing Nature Through Gender Virginia Scharff, 2003 Environmental history has traditionally told the story of Man and Nature Scholars have too frequently overlooked the ways in which their predominantly male subjects have themselves been shaped by gender Seeing Nature through Gender here reintroduces gender as a meaningful category of analysis for environmental history showing how women's actions, desires, and choices have shaped the world and seeing men as gendered actors as well In thirteen essays that show how gendered ideas have shaped the ways in which people have represented, experienced, and consumed their world Virginia Scharff and her coauthors explore interactions between gender and environment in history Ranging from colonial borderlands to transnational boundaries from mountaintop to marketplace they focus on historical representations of humans and nature on questions about consumption on environmental politics and on the complex reciprocal relations among human bodies and changing landscapes They also challenge the ecofeminist position by challenging the notion that men and women are essentially different creatures with biologically different destinies Each article shows how a person or group of people in history have understood nature in gendered terms and acted accordingly often with dire consequences for other people and organisms Here are considerations of the ways we study sexuality among birds of William Byrd's masking sexual encounters in his account of an eighteenth century expedition of how the ecology of fire in a changing built environment has reshaped firefighters' own gendered identities Some are playful as in a piece on the evolution of snow bunnies to shed betties Others are dead serious as in a chilling portrait of how endocrine disruptors are reinventing humans, animals, and water systems from the cellular level out Aiding and adding significantly to the enterprise of environmental history Seeing Nature through Gender bridges gender history and environmental history in unexpected ways to show us how the natural world can remake the gendered patterns we've engraved on ourselves and on the planet Sessional Papers of the Dominion of Canada Canada.
