Difficult Questions on Dinosaurs Richard Pittack,2011-07-01 This book is not the typical Questions and Answers on Dinosaurs book It is not a book for children enabling them to find out the largest recorded dinosaur to discover what dinosaurs ate or even how they managed to get up after nap time An informative book on the biology and anatomy of the mighty reptiles it is not The series of questions in this treatise of answers has arisen from meetings conducted on dinosaurs The questions have come from all kinds of people in various and sundry walks of life Some of the questions were common and not much is to be learned from answers to such generalities However some of the questions are not only posited by the curious but come from hearts filled with consternation while contemplating the subject of Theodicy Did the Creator contribute heavily to the world s landscape of tooth and claw Is the canvass of God s creation not only etched in blood but filled with the stench and smell emanating from the so called Mesozoic Era of the past

The Concept of Meaninglessness Edward Erwin,2019-12-01 Originally published in 1970 Many contemporary philosophers have thought that certain philosophic disputes could be settled by using the concept of meaninglessness To solve philosophic problems in this way however it seemed necessary to provide a reliable criterion for deciding when a particular sentence or statement is meaningless But devising such a criterion has proved to be very difficult In fact in recent years many philosophers have become quite skeptical about the adequacy of the standard criteria of meaninglessness Some of the more radical skeptics have even argued that the concept of meaninglessness as it is used by philosophers is itself defective and would be even if an adequate criterion could be found Professor Erwin in a systematic study of the concept of meaninglessness begins by examining the standard criteria of meaninglessness proposed by philosophers These criteria include operationalist verificationist and type or category criteria Each of these criteria he argues is inadequate Erwin then turns to the question What kinds of items if any should be said to be meaningless Most philosophers concerned with this question have claimed that only sentences not statements or propositions can be meaningless Erwin argues however that this is wrong statements and propositions can be meaningless Once this is demonstrated it can then be shown that the more radical skepticism about the philosophic use of the concept of meaninglessness is misguided In particular Erwin shows that the following assertions of the radical skeptic are false that what is meaningless is relative to a given language or to a given time and that the concept of meaninglessness forces us to condemn as nonsense metaphors comprehensible to competent speakers of English In his concluding chapter Erwin considers the implications of there not being any adequate general criterion of meaninglessness He then tries to show how the concept of meaninglessness when interpreted in the manner he suggests can be profitably used by philosophers despite the many persuasive objections to its use that philosophers have raised in their disputes over it
