Face Au Racisme:

Race in France Herrick Chapman, Laura L. Frader, 2004-06-01 Scholars across disciplines on both sides of the Atlantic have recently begun to open up as never before the scholarly study of race and racism in France. These original essays bring together in one volume new work in history, sociology, anthropology, political science, and legal studies. Each of the eleven articles presents fresh research on the tension between a republican tradition in France that has long denied the legitimacy of acknowledging racial difference and a lived reality in which racial prejudice shaped popular views about foreigners, Jews, immigrants, and colonial people. Several authors also examine efforts to combat racism since the 1970s.

Philosophies of Integration Adrian Favell, 2016-02-17 A comprehensive comparative study of the distinct ideas and political arguments that have shaped French and British policies towards their ethnic minorities and the effects of these intellectual frameworks at local, national, and European levels. Charting the politics and events that brought the respective institutional solutions together, the author sets out the divergent conceptualisations of citizenship, nationality, pluralism, autonomy, public order, and tolerance that make up the national philosophies in the two countries: republican integration in France and multicultural race relations in Britain. This new edition, published in paperback, contains a new preface bringing the volume up to date in the light of new legislation and progress.

Immigration and National Identity Rabah Aissaoui, 2009-03-30 Immigration is at the heart of social, cultural, and political debate in France, a country still struggling to come to terms with its postcolonial legacy. Here Aissaoui provides a radical re-examination of the assumptions about immigrants and ethnic and national identity through a study of the Maghrebis, especially their political mobilisation from the colonial to the postcolonial period. Combining insights from the archive and interviews with political activists, he examines the diaspora's voice and their struggle against racism and oppression. Through a study of key political movements, he shows how they constructed a powerful and consistent political tradition and charts the development in France of the Algerian anti-colonial and nationalist movement, as well as new forms of political activism during the 1970s. Immigration and National Identity foregrounds the migrants' perspective and the necessary historical background to the fraught contemporary context of immigrant communities in France. It will be valuable for all those concerned with immigration, colonialism, and postcolonialism, cultural studies, sociology, and the study of contemporary France.

The Force of Prejudice Pierre-André Taguieff, 2001 Pierre-André Taguieff puts forward a powerful thesis that racism has evolved from an argument about races naturalizing inequality between biologically defined groups on the basis of fear of the other to an argument about cultures naturalizing historical differences and justifying exclusion. Correspondingly, Taguieff shows how antiracism must adopt the strategy that fits the variety of racism it opposes. Already viewed as an essential work of reference in France, The Force of Prejudice is an invaluable tool for identifying and understanding both racism and its antidote in our day.

Educating Immigrant Children Charles L. Glenn, Ester J. De Jong, 1996-08-01 This study is concerned with the ways in which a dozen knowledge-based societies of Western Europe and the English speaking world respond to unprecedented cultural and linguistic diversity resulting from the flow of immigrants and refugees since World War II It asks how public policy has sought to use schooling to minimize the potentially divisive and inequitable effects of this diversity and to provide opportunities to the children of immigrants It asks also how the nature of each of these societies affects the meaning of integration into each of them
