

How to Prevent Franchise Fraud?

Not every business opportunity that sounds good is excellent, especially when it comes to franchising – you have to be extra vigilant. In the UK, many companies have scammed both small and large investors by selling fake franchises. Therefore, before signing the Franchise Agreement, you have to keep your eyes open and focus on the following 10 points to make sure that the franchisor is not trying to fraud you.

1. Make Sure That They Have a Quality Franchise Association Membership:

You have to make sure that you have confirmed that the company is a registered member of the Quality Franchise Association. Buying a franchise UK from a QFA accredited franchise would assure you that the company isn't a fraud. However, would it assure you that your investment will be secure and the business will not fail? Well, no! For guaranteeing the success of your franchising business, you would have to research about the company and its franchising history thoroughly. You can also take professional help if necessary.

2. Back Out If The Offer Seems Unrealistic:

No matter if they are high cost or low cost franchises, if the Franchisor's proposal sounds unrealistic, this should be alarming enough for you to back out. No one can make you a millionaire overnight. It takes a few months in rare cases and usually a few years to establish any franchise no matter how lucrative it is. So, do the calculations before you decide to buy any franchise; the Franchisor's offer should sound realistic, and it should match the success rate of its other franchises.

3. Have A Few Meetings with the Franchisor

There are many new franchises UK that offer a great deal, but when they have a few meetings with the Franchisee, only then the real deal is revealed. It should be your top priority to have a few sessions with the franchisor; it will help you and the franchisor is on the same page.
