Lanters, 2000 Certain moments in history especially periods of cultural turmoil and political change appear to be conducive to the writing of Menippean satire Unauthorized Versions is the first integral study of Menippean satires written in Ireland in the three decades following the declaration of the Irish Free State in 1922 The book discusses works by Darrell Figgis Eimar to economic policy the role of the Church and censorship Mikhail Bakhtin defines Menippean satire as an unresolved dialogue between actual and or implied voices designed to test a truth or philosophical idea The Irish satirists of the first half of the twentieth century use medieval Ireland as a setting for addressing contemporary concerns or borrow characters from medieval Irish texts that they place in a modern context Each satire thus creates a series of dialogues between the past and present between characters who represent opposing values and ideologies and between the older texts and their modern reworkings Unauthorized Versions reveals the double bind at the core of every Menippean satire Each writer discussed in the book expresses an awareness of the paradox of an author writing in the vacuum created by official censorship seeking to engage his audience in the dethroning of the very authorities by whom he is deprived of his audience By revealing his own ambiguous position the satirist knowingly subverts his own authority along with that of his opponents This study will appeal
