Guidance and Control of Underwater Vehicles 2003 (GCUV 2003) G. N. Roberts,Robert Sutton,Robert Allen,2003 This volume contains forty papers from the 1st IFAC Workshop on Guidance and Control of Underwater Vehicles The aim of the Workshop was to bring together academic practitioners and industrialists involved in this important and expanding area of interest in order to exchange experiences on recent advances in this field Topics covered by the papers in this proceeding include UUV Control Applications System Identification UUV Architectures Navigation Modelling Fault Detection and Reconfiguration Contributors from Italy Ireland Japan Portugal Spain Turkey USA and the United Kingdom were represented at the workshop The Workshop was voted a resounding success by all delegates and in the light of this vote of confidence the Technical Committee on Marine Systems is planning to run this event again in 2005 with the slightly amended title of Navigation Guidance and Control of Underwater Vehicles Guidance and Control 1979, Feb. 24-28, 1979, Keyston, Co Robert D. Culp,1979 Guidance, Control and Docking for CubeSat-based Active Debris Removal Mohamed Khalil Ben-Larbi,2023-08-07 While a paradigm shift in space industry has already started involving mass production of higher standardized large distributed systems such as constellations there are no effective solutions existing for the mass removal of satellites Many indicators point to a further increase in the space traffic in Earth orbit in the near future which could imply new dynamics in the evolution of the space debris environment Even in case of diligent compliance with the Inter Agency Space Debris Coordination Committee IADC mitigation guidelines the growth in space traffic complicates its management and drastically increases the probability of accidents and system failures NASA scientist Donald J Kessler proposed a scenario in which the density of objects in low Earth orbit is high enough that collisions between objects could cause a cascade that renders space unusable for many generations Therefore a reliable and affordable capability of removing or servicing non functional objects is essential to guarantee sustainable access to Earth orbit Recently the CubeSat design standard introduced a new class of cost efficient small spacecraft and thereby offers a potential solution to the active debris removal ADR problem The development of a novel CubeSat compatible ADR technology has significant advantages such as the use of commercial off the shelf parts reduced launch cost and reduced design efforts This thesis presents in the frame of an ADR mission an approach to advanced rendezvous and docking with non cooperative targets via CubeSat It covers the design process of simulation systems used for verification purposes the ideation and implementation of novel guidance control and docking techniques as well as their verification and evaluation The outcome of this research is a series of validated software tools processes technical devices and algorithms for automated approach and docking that have been tested in simulation and with prototype hardware Guidance and Control 2003 Ian J. Song,Dangjun Zhao,Stephan Theil,2023-04-15 This open access book highlights the autonomous and intelligent flight control of future launch vehicles for improving flight autonomy to plan ascent and descent trajectories onboard and autonomously handle unexpected events or failures during the flight Since the beginning of the twenty first century space launch activities worldwide have grown vigorously Meanwhile commercial launches also account for the booming trend Unfortunately the risk of space launches still exists and is gradually increasing in line with the rapidly rising launch activities and commercial rockets In the history of space launches propulsion and control systems are the two main contributors to launch failures With the development of information technologies the increase of the functional density of hardware products the application of redundant or fault tolerant solutions and the improvement of the testability of avionics the launch losses caused by control systems exhibit a downward trend and the failures induced by propulsion systems become the focus of attention Under these failures the autonomous planning and guidance control may save the missions This book focuses on the latest progress of relevant projects and academic studies of autonomous guidance especially on some advanced methods which can be potentially real time implemented in the future control system of launch vehicles In Chapter 1 the prospect and technical challenges are summarized by reviewing the development of launch vehicles Chapters 2 to 4 mainly focus on the flight in the ascent phase in which the autonomous guidance is mainly reflected in the online planning Chapters 5 and 6 mainly discuss the powered descent guidance technologies Finally since aerodynamic uncertainties exert a significant impact on the performance of the ascent landing guidance control systems the estimation of aerodynamic parameters which are helpful to improve flight autonomy is discussed in Chapter 7 The book serves as a valuable reference for researchers and engineers working on launch vehicles It is also a timely source of information for graduate students interested in the subject
