Domestic Violence, Forced Marriage and "honour"-based Violence Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Home Affairs Committee, 2008 Domestic violence is the largest cause of morbidity worldwide in women aged 19 44 greater than war cancer or motor vehicle accidents According to the British Crime Survey 1 in 4 women and 1 in 6 men in the UK will experience domestic violence at some point in their lives The vast majority of serious and recurring violence is perpetuated by men towards women Domestic violence accounts for 16 per cent of all violent incidents reported to or recorded by the police Around 2 women a week are killed by their partner or former partner Domestic violence is estimated to have cost the UK 25 3 billion in 2005 06 Home Office figures suggest there are around 12 honour killings each year but the total is likely to be far higher The Government s Forced Marriage Unit deals with 5 000 enquiries and 300 cases of forced marriage each year 30 per cent of these concern under 18s and 15 per cent are men The Committee concludes the Government approach to all forms of domestic violence is disproportionately focused on criminal justice responses at the expense of effective prevention and early intervention There are also serious concerns about the amount of refuge space for those fleeing violence and the provision of domestic violence services is a postcode lottery Availability of Probation Service perpetrator programmes is so poor some courts cannot use them as sentencing options The Department for Children Schools and Families should introduce an explicit statutory requirement for schools to educate children about domestic and honour based violence and forced marriage Front line professionals teacher health professionals visa entry clearance officers police judges and magistrates who come into contact with victims should receive accredited training to enable them to identify abuse and refer the victim to appropriate support

Forced Marriage and 'Honour' Killings in Britain Christina Julios, 2016-03-09 This book explores the contemporary phenomenon of forced marriage and honour killings in Britain Set against a background of increasing honour based violence within the country s South Asian and Muslim Diasporas the book traces the development of the honour question over the past two decades It accordingly witnesses unprecedented changes in public awareness and government policy including ground breaking honour specific legislation and the criminalisation of forced marriage All of which makes Britain an important context for the study of this now indigenous and self perpetuating social problem In considering the scale of the challenge and its underlying causes attention is paid to the intersections of gendered power structures that disadvantage female members of honour cultures as well as feminist theories that seek to explain them The book features five key case studies of honour killings and draws from a wide range of narratives including those of honour violence survivors grassroots service providers and legislators Such myriad of perspectives reveals the complexity of the honour issue and the deep ideological divisions that characterise it With the UK s multiculturalist discourse unable to reconcile protecting patriarchal minority cultures with safeguarding gender equality and human rights the book raises fundamental questions about the country s future direction Following a long trend of state sponsored integrationist policies the government's response to the honour question points decisively in the direction of a post multicultural British nation

Honour Based Crimes and the Law Mukaddes Gorar, 2021-05-10 Honour based violence and abuse manifests itself in different forms and this book offers a comprehensive understanding of this phenomenon This book argues that the limits of honour crimes must be defined more widely so that they include conducts and behaviours that originate from the patriarchal notion of honour such as honour based oppression and breast ironing The book provides a critical analysis and synthesis of the law in England and Wales and in the international human rights sphere The relevant domestic legislation and cases are examined to reflect on whether adequate protection is provided for the victims and potential victims of honour based violence and abuse Since honour based violence is a violation of human rights the relevant international human rights law is examined to illustrate the perception of such crimes in the international arena The effectiveness of any remedy for victims of honour based violence and abuse depends on its capability to change deep rooted behaviours in communities with honour based patriarchal values This book argues that the law does not provide the effective impact required in part due to patriarchal structures and that more efforts should be dedicated to changes in education It is held that there is a need for an educational programme that is especially designed to tackle violence and promote gender equality The book will be essential reading for academics researchers and policy makers working in the areas of Human Rights Law Criminal Law and Gender Studies

Forced Marriage Aisha Gill, Sundari Anitha, 2011-07-07 Forced Marriage Introducing a social justice and human rights perspective brings together leading practitioners and researchers from the disciplines of criminology sociology and law Together the contributors provide an international multi disciplinary perspective that offers a compelling alternative to prevailing conceptualisations of the problem of forced marriage The volume examines advances in theoretical debates analyses existing research and presents new evidence that challenges the cultural essentialism that often characterises efforts to explain and even justify this violation of women's rights By locating forced marriage within broader debates on violence against women social justice and human rights the authors offer an intersectional perspective that can be used to inform both theory and practical efforts to address violence against diverse groups of women This unique book which is informed by practitioner insights and academic research is essential reading for practitioners and students of sociology criminology gender studies and law Marriage by Force? Annie Bunting, Benjamin N. Lawrance, Richard L. Roberts, 2016-06-15 With forced marriage as with so many human rights issues the sensationalized hides the mundane and oversimplified popular discourses miss the range of experiences In sub Saharan Africa the relationship between coercion and consent in marriage is a complex one that has changed over time and place rendering impossible any single interpretation or explanation The legal experts anthropologists historians and development workers contributing to Marriage by Force focus on the role that marriage plays in the mobilization of labor the accumulation of wealth and domination versus dependency They also address the crucial slippage between marriages and other forms of gendered violence bondage slavery and servile status Only by examining variations in practices from a multitude of perspectives can we properly contextualize the problem and its consequences And while early and forced marriages have been on the human rights agenda for decades there is today an unprecedented level of international attention to the issue thus making the coherent multifaceted approach of Marriage by Force even more necessary The Family, 1923
