A Frenchwoman's Imperial Story Rebecca Rogers, 2013-01-16 Eugénie Luce was a French schoolteacher who fled her husband and abandoned her family migrating to Algeria in the early 1830s By the mid 1840s she had become a major figure in debates around educational policies insisting that women were a critical dimension of the French effort to effect a fusion of the races To aid this fusion she founded the first French school for Muslim girls in Algiers in 1845 which thrived until authorities cut off her funding in 1861 At this point she switched from teaching spelling grammar and sewing to embroidery an endeavor that attracted the attention of prominent British feminists and gave her school a celebrated reputation for generations The portrait of this remarkable woman reveals the role of women and girls in the imperial projects of the time and sheds light on why they have disappeared from the historical record since then
