Scientific Inquiry Cycle: Review

Science helps communities solve problems by applying knowledge and creating things that "solve" real-world issues such as water quality or waste management using science. These solutions can have a positive impact on understanding the problem fully, including its causes and effects, as the first step in finding an effective resolution.

Designing solutions requires considering various constraints, such as budget, time, and safety concerns. Sometimes, important parts of a solution might be challenging, so it's important to weigh these trade-offs carefully. For example, creating materials for a house that are affordable to build and easy to use, versus influencing the effectiveness of the solution.

After identifying a solution, documenting how it works, what constraints affected it, and any compromises that have already been or should be made on the way. Communication, using digital media, and reflecting on the results of the solution are important steps. This process helps the community learn, build on previous knowledge, and make improvements.

6A. Mark the best answer for each question.

1. What is the first important step when working on a real-world problem?
- Thinking of a solution immediately
  - Ignoring the most important materials
  - Ignoring safety concerns
  - Understanding the problem fully
2. What does documenting constraints in a solution help with?
- Ignoring the constraints of the solution
  - Building a solution that is safe and viable
  - Showing how to avoid constraints
  - Demonstrating that the solution has no issues
3. Which is an example of a trade-off?
- Finding a solution with no constraints
  - Ignoring safety concerns
  - Using affordable materials
  - Using unsafe materials
4. Why is communication important in a solution?
- To avoid not being understood
  - To make ideas clearer
  - To finish the project as quickly as possible
  - To avoid discussing the work

6B. Mark if the statement is True (T) or False (F).

1. A solution made after one failed attempt is always better than one made after many failed attempts.
